September 9th is said to be called the Chouyou Festival.
The what festival?
?
日本の暦
1
It's also called the Chrysanthemum Festival.
We admire the chrysanthe-mums and pray for immortality.
2
You put this cotton on the flower to absorb its dew and scent, then wipe your body down with the cotton, and it will wipe off any bad luck.
So we take this cotton...
And wipe...
That's right.
4
We're immortal!
Old man beards...
Oh dear.